Piqua, Ohio – (April 9, 2024) – Today, Isaiah Industries, Inc. announced a distribution partnership with CertainTeed to offer the new Solstice® Shingle to its metal roofing customers. Isaiah will distribute Solstice® through its nationwide network of dealers, starting with a limited rollout to select contractors and markets.

“We’re thrilled to be able to add a beautiful and efficient solar shingle solution to our offerings,” said Isaiah President Todd Miller. “By leveraging our experience selling energy-efficient metal roofing, we can bring customers a unique opportunity for solar collection integrated directly into their roof system.” Consumer priorities in recent years have shifted towards green and energy-efficient products, creating demand for residential roof-mounted solar shingles. The CertainTeed Solstice® Shingle allows homeowners to generate solar energy for their household needs, offsetting energy bills and, in some cases, selling power back to the utility company.

The Solstice® Shingle is a low-profile photovoltaic solar roofing system that integrates directly into a high-quality shingle for a unified roof and solar power solution. The integrated construction promotes easy installation, improved durability, and weather resistance. The low-profile design will coordinate well with Isaiah’s large line of metal shingle options, maintaining a home’s aesthetic appeal. CertainTeed backs Solstice® with its Limited Warranty which provides up to 25 years of coverage on the solar roofing system.

Isaiah Industries offers several profiles of durable, long-lasting metal shingles with a Lifetime / 40-Year Limited Warranty. The heat-reflective Kynar®-coated metal panels reduce energy bills and, combined with solar power generation, offer a significant value proposition for homeowners. The available profiles offer shake, shingle, slate, and tile looks in steel and aluminum.

About Isaiah Industries: Isaiah is the parent company of three metal roofing brands: Classic Metal Roofing Systems, Kassel & Irons, and Green American Home. Specializing in steel and aluminum metal roofing panels, Isaiah manufactures exclusively in its Piqua, Ohio facility with American-made materials.
